ASSIGNMENT

MODUAL 1

1. What is Software?

Software is a set of instruction, data or programs used to operate computers and execute specific task.

The programs and other operating information used by a computer

2. What are the types of Applications?

There are two types of Application.

1. Standalone Apps
2. Web Application

3.What is programming?

Programming refers to a technological process for telling a computer which task to perform in order to solve problem or

To plan for something to happen at a particular time.

4.What is Python?

Python is a high-level computer programming language often used to build website and software, automate task, and conduct data analysis